CONCEPT NOTE

Keeping the major paradigm shifts in Humanities and Social Science in mind, we are going to organize a seminar titled "Multidisciplinary Approach in Humanities and Social Science" at the Centre for Distance and Online Education (CDOE), The University of Burdwan. New approaches and changing perspectives like the concept of development, sustainability and environmental awareness, National Education Policy (NEP), challenges towards achieving gender equality, disability and tribal studies etc. demand special attention today. Even pure literature cannot be studied without touching upon these issues. The goal of the seminar is to emphasize and discuss most of these issues. In order to achieve this, the seminar also emphasizes an interdisciplinary approach relating to more than one branch of knowledge. New trends, research techniques and research methods are developing in Education, Social Science and Humanities accordingly. In order to keep pace with these changes we seek to arrange for open discussion panels. Through this seminar we expect to contribute new ways of teaching and research in the fields of Humanities and Social Science which would be beneficial for teachers, scholars, students and individual researchers.
